

Polyurethane foams which are free of tin and transition metals

Abstract

- 5 The invention relates to tin-free polyurethane foams which are obtainable by reacting polyisocyanates (a) with compounds having isocyanate-reactive hydrogen atoms (b) in the presence of bismuth carboxylates as catalysts (c1).